From Blueprints to Footprints

- Dedication -

Mr. David Wahlgren

Mr. David Wahlgren has been an inspiration to all of us at Randolph High School. He continues to serve the Randolph community after many years. He began his teaching career in 1965, when he was called to Vietnam to serve for two years. Mr. Wahlgren returned as a part of the RHS Business Department. In 1981, he was transferred to the Guidance Department at the JFK Elementary School for about a decade and then came back to RHS to stay.

Mr. Wahlgren is a great friend, mentor, and confidante. He could always be found roaming the hallways, joking with students and teachers alike in his loud, booming voice. Those who know him best say he lives for the kids and loves working with them. He was dedicated to the students, and wanted to help them plan their futures. Mr. Linehan still quotes him today, "If you come in with questions, you'll walk out with a plan." Mr. Wahlgren is known for his great sense of humor. If you get past his seeming intimidation, you will find that he is just a big, lovable teddy bear.

As one of his former colleagues once said, "If Randolph had a mayor, he'd be it." Mr. Wahlgren knows just about everyone: the students, their mothers, their fathers, their sisters, their brothers, their cousins, their aunts, and their uncles. Don't be surprised if he knows your third cousin's uncle's mother-in-law twice removed.

We'd like to thank Mr. Wahlgren for his aid throughout these stressful high school years. He helped us arrange our schedules, held conferences with us about college placement, and still found time to have a friendly conversation. In doing so, he has left footprints in our hearts as he walks on, leaving us more assured and much less confused. We are grateful for the time he has invested in making our high school experience that much better. With fondness in our hearts, and smiles on our faces, we dedicate this yearbook to him.

Quote:

"Peer pressure is all through life. Be yourself and know what you're about. Do things when you want to not when someone else tells you to or when it would be cool. You really need to think about what's important to you as an individual and not as a group and the principles and values that are important to you."

To the Class of 2004:

Congratulations to you and your families as you graduate from Randolph High School. You began your high school experience with anxiety and trepidation. This June you will receive your diploma as confident, mature, and sophisticated young men and women. It has been an honor and pleasure to work with you during these years. Your accomplishments rank high and bring much deserved praise to your class.

On behalf of Randolph High School faculty and administration, I thank you for your contributions to our school and community. We wish you success in your continuing education and careers. Continue your pursuit of excellence and maintain your commitment of using your talents to help others.

Well done.

To the Class of 2004:

Walt Disney believed that his motto "If you can dream it, you can do it" provided the inspiration for the creation of his "Magic Kingdom." For the past twelve years, each of you have been pursuing your own dream to walk up to the stage on Graduation Day to receive your diploma. Your hard work and determination along with the help of your family, friends, and teachers have enabled you to finally reach this "magical" moment.

You must now take the skills and knowledge that you have acquired at Randolph High School and use them to follow the advice of Henry David Thoreau who wrote "Go confidently in the directions of your dreams! Live the life you've imagined."

Congratulations and thank you for all of the contributions that you have made to your class and school.

Be great!

Mr. R. Luke Carroll

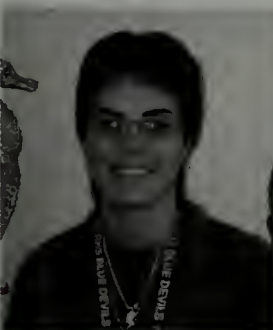

Assistant Principal

Dear Class of 2004:

Having completed all the graduation requirements of Randolph High School, I congratulate you, the Class of 2004. Your experiences here are only a step in your journey through life. As you face the next round of challenges that will inevitably come your way, rely upon your personal resources and the enduring educational background you have received at Randolph High School.

The final days of senior year are very memorable. Take the time to enjoy your senior year. Remember the experiences that formed you personally and that are part of your collective identity: the light hearted days as a freshman, the enjoyment shared with friends at dances and proms, the trials of applying to college or finding a job, the world changing tragedy of September 11, 2003. Leave with pride, memories, and experiences that have laid the foundation for a bright tomorrow. Move forward to reflect and act upon the important years that lie ahead of you.

I have enjoyed the last four years with you. Continue the learning process, and may you find success and happiness in all your "walks" of life.

2004

Organizations

A Cappella Choir

director: Mr. Brenner

Its talented members must pass a prerequisite singing and theory test in order to be accepted into the club. Their performances have been as spontaneous as strolling throughout the school singing holiday songs for students and faculty, and outside Shaw's Supermarket during Music Booster fundraising. The A Cappella Choir works diligently at every practice in order to continually exceed the expectations of all it performs for.

Aesthetic Restoration Team

advisor: Ms. Carleton

A.R.T. is a group of students who meet on Fridays to paint and restore murals throughout the school. A.R.T. is comprised of some amazingly talented artists who spend weeks planning and designing a mural. With every piece of artwork the group creates, they hope to make the school a brighter place and a more positive environment for learning.

African American Club

advisor: Ms. Auguste

The purpose of the African American Club is to spread awareness of African, African American, and Caribbean cultures. The club promotes cultural and ethnic diversity, acceptance, tolerance, and enlightenment of our school and our community at large. Through this effort, the African American Club hopes to influence the students of RHS in a positive manner.

Asian Club

advisor: Mr. Peterson

The Asian Club strives to be a cultural resource for the community's diverse youth population. It endeavors to learn about various cultures and to share that knowledge with others through creative performances every year at Asian Night, newly collaborated with the African American Club to form Afrasian Night. The Asian Club's main goal is to help banish stereotypes by embracing the world community and to label everyone under one title: Images of Humanity.

Best Buddies

advisors: Mr. LeClair, Mr. Pillarella, Ms. Rosen

The purpose of Best Buddies is to provide the opportunity for friendships by matching "buddy pairs" between mainstream and special education students. Students are given the opportunity to make new friends, enjoy new experiences and have an impact on each others' lives.

Environmental Club

advisor: Ms. Lyn

The RHS Environmental Club works toward promoting awareness of current environmental issues to the school and the community. Its goal is to improve the local and global environment. The Environmental Club encourages respect towards nature and the conservation of our natural resources. It acknowledges the possible consequences of a world without environmental concern, and fights to accomplish the difficult goal of informing an often indifferent society.

Gay Straight Alliance

advisor: Mr. Millard

The GSA strives to celebrate diversity, to defuse homophobia and to break down the walls of intolerance and prejudice by educating the students of RHS on gay, lesbian, and bisexual issues. Although membership is strictly confidential, over the years GSA has increased its visibility within the school. The GSA meets once a week and welcomes students of every sexual orientation.

Literary Magazine

advisor: Ms. McNitt

The Literary Magazine seeks to encourage and publish original voices from RHS in poetry, short fiction, and prose. Its goal is to publish one or two compilations of student writing per year. Another important goal of the magazine is to further develop the craft of regular members. Young writers are encouraged to develop their strengths and explore new types of writing with which they may be less familiar.

Math Team

advisors: Mr. Turner & Ms. DiMascio

The RHS Math Team competes in the Southeastern Mathematics League, made up of twenty-four schools. Randolph has continued its tradition of excellence for the past ten years, placing in the top five schools in the league. The 2003-2004 team strives to continue their streak.

Mock Trial Team

advisor: Ms. Lellock

The goal of the Mock Trial Team is to help students develop their critical thinking skills, their understanding of the judicial process, and their ability to present themselves in a public and competent manner. The program places students in a simulator courtroom situation where they must assume the roles in a hypothetical case. The team practices for hours all Fall to compete against other schools in February.

National Honor Society

advisor: Ms. DiMascio

Scholarship, leadership, service, and character are the four pillars of the NHS which the members follow. The NHS conducts monthly service projects to benefit the school and local communities. One of its major contributions is the recycling program conducted weekly within RHS. Other projects include volunteering at the U.S.S. Salem's Haunted Ship, and the Rotary Club's Breakfast with Santa. The program produced for the May induction ceremony summarizes these events.

Peer Leadership/Peer Educators

advisors: Mrs. Rosen & Mr. Sweeney

This year these two clubs have joined forces to provide education on domestic and teen dating violence, model positive behaviors such as good decision making, and positive behavior both in and out of school. The group has three days of training before conducting two or three sessions of educating students within RHS.

S.A.D.D.

advisor: Ms. Burke

The mission of the Students Against Destructive Decisions is to provide students with the best possible tools for prevention and intervention of destructive decision making such as drug and alcohol use, or driving while impaired. SADD members sign a contract to best communicate with others the dangers of these potentially destructive decisions.

S.A.L.S.

advisor: Ms. Ervick

The Student Academic Leadership Society is made up of freshmen who were members of the National Junior Honor Society. The members develop their leadership skills through their various activities designed to help the school and the community. The organization's mission is to provide its members with the experience necessary to meet the criteria for membership in the NHS.

Student Council

advisors: Mr. Powell & Mr. Boyd

The Student Council is a student government organization with the members who are elected by popular vote by each candidate's class. In addition to those elected by popular vote, there are members appointed to the council due to outstanding leadership qualities. Ex-officio members include class officers, representatives of the school committee, and state officers. The mission of the Student Council is to represent the student body, to promote spirit within the school, and to perform community service within our community and surrounding communities. The members of the Student Council learn valuable leadership skills from each other and through training that will be valuable in the future.

Yearbook Staff

The Oracle, or Randolph High School's yearbook, is a treasured keepsake to all who buy it. To make a yearbook requires much work, though, and a large, dedicated staff is needed to produce it. The staff is divided into two parts: the Technical Staff and the Business Staff. The Technical Staff works countless hours laying out pages, taking photographs, and meeting deadlines. The Business Staff is responsible for collecting advertisements, collecting yearbook payments, and meeting all financial deadlines the yearbook has. All together, to work with the Oracle requires much dedication, responsibility, and most importantly, time.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE CLASS of 2004

*You have all worked hard to achieve this moment when you can wear a cap and gown, and get your diploma!
As you transition from the life you know to follow your dreams, always remember your roots.*

Remember your connections to your family, your friends, and your community.

Remember the silly things - like rolling down hills and the hallways in Symphony Hall.

Remember making and blowing bubbles, coloring pictures, and making sit upons, dunk bags, encampments and chore charts.

Remember camping under the stars, learning to make a fire, s'mores, making food you never ate and Six Flags.

Remember your favorite comfort toy and warm and loving kisses from your parents.

Remember all the times we sang and played and learning to ride a two wheeler - only to realize that if you put your feet down you would not fall over.

Remember those teachers who knew you could do it!

Remember those in your life that showed you things you may never have seen, taught you things you may never have learned and shared with you their time and talents so that you could become the person you are now.

Above all, remember your parents who stood beside you through it all. Family is the number one support you can always count on.

Keep music in your hearts and follow your dreams!
